

Roundwood Park Drama presents

National Theatre

@RPSCREATIVE

connections
2019

The Sad Club

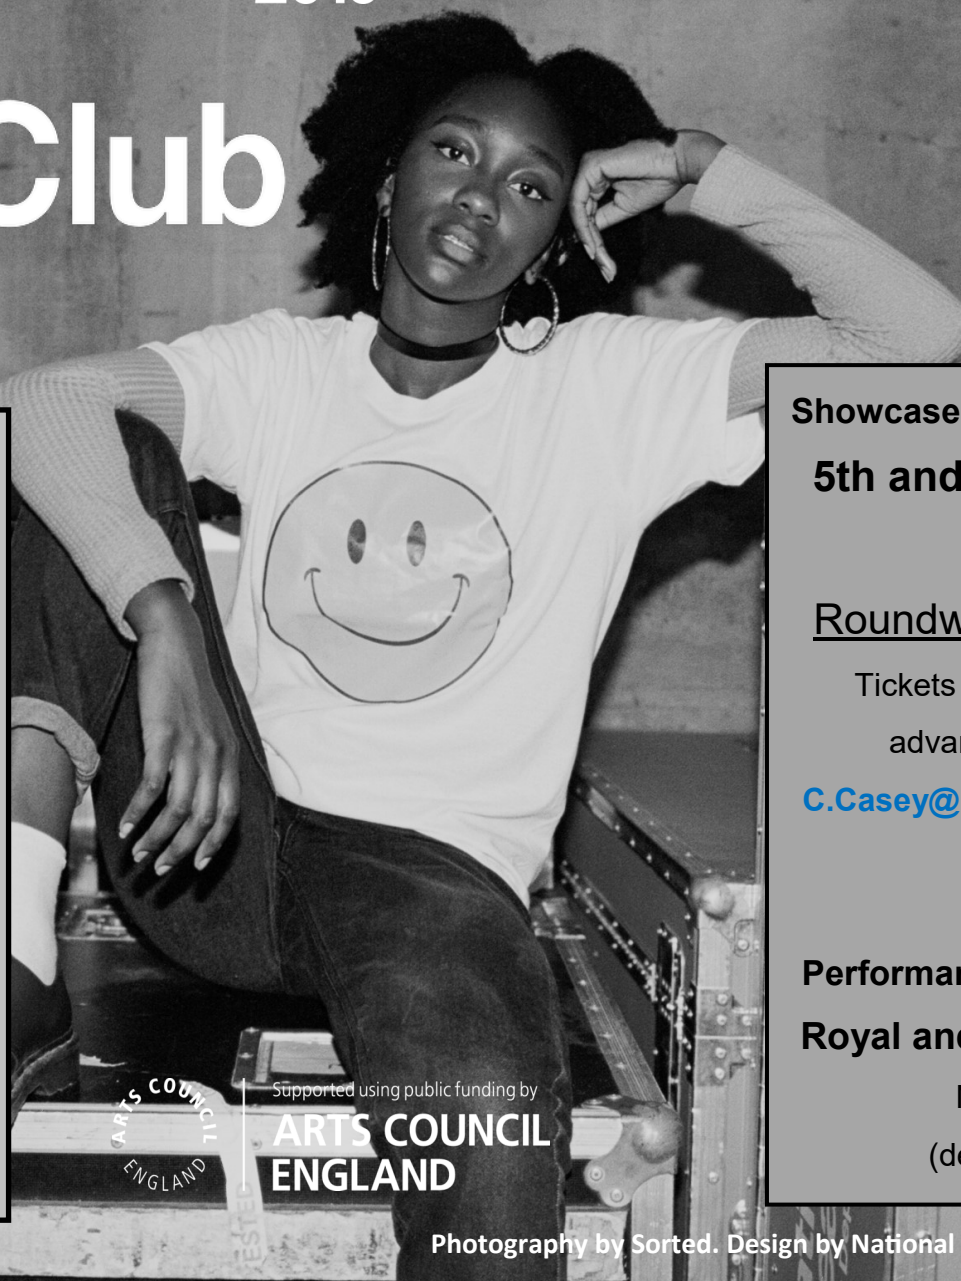

by Luke Barnes
music by Adam Pleeth

Since November, we have been working with the National Theatre on a brand new piece of writing which is focused on the issues that teenagers have dealt with since time began. In the writer's own words, he wanted to create a piece that offers the support and understanding to young people that he really wishes he had known at the time.

As a new and unperformed play with music, it has been an exciting and challenging journey to get to this point and in the first week in March, we showcase the piece to the public and a National Theatre director who will be giving us feedback before we show it at the Royal and Derngate theatre in Northampton in April.

We would love to share our journey with you so far! Please come and see us—see details opposite.

Email M.Garbutt@roundwoodparkschool.co.uk for further info.

Showcase Performances 1 & 2:
5th and 6th March 2019
7.30pm

Roundwood Park School

Tickets £5 on the door or in advance by contacting

C.Casey@roundwoodpark.co.uk

Performance 3: 4th April at the Royal and Derngate Theatre
Northampton
(details to follow)

ARTS COUNCIL
ENGLAND

Supported using public funding by

ARTS COUNCIL
ENGLAND

Photography by Sorted. Design by National Theatre Graphic Design Studio.